NEW ADDITION STEVE FLEEMAN TO SALES
TEAM FOR WEST STAR AVIATION

Grand Junction, CO, August 25, 2010 – West Star Aviation, Inc. is pleased to welcome the newest addition to its sales team, Steve Fleeman in position as Accessory Sales Manager. Steve will be based at the Grand Junction, Colorado facility.

In his new position as the Accessory Sales Manager, Steve will be responsible for expanding the reach of West Star's accessory program to additional operators. He will also be extending parts and services to 145 repair stations seeking a high quality, high value product.

Steve brings with him over 20 years of aviation experience. Previous to joining West Star, Steve was in the USAF, and then working for Midcoast Aviation, starting as an aircraft welder and machinist. He continued with his career to eventually run the accessory shop, and then shortly after moved into sales until May of 2010.

West Star's Accessory Part's Division is an FAA-Certified Class I, II, and III Accessory Repair Station and accessory services supplier. They provide repairs and overhauls, and AOG parts support with quick turnarounds, as well as offering many airframe components available on an exchange basis, helping customers achieve the most economical means of maintaining their aircraft.
